

Resource List for Reporting Department Climate Concerns

Below is a list of offices that members of the Department of Communication can reference when seeking advice or support for department or university climate related concerns, particularly with regard to bias or harassment. These resources are not meant to be mutually exclusive or exhaustive, but serve as a guide when deciding whom to talk to. In many cases, individuals will benefit from conversations with more than one office, and we encourage outreach to multiple forms of support when folks are comfortable doing so. Finally, we encourage reporting and support seeking outside of the department as a precursor and/or complement to departmental support in order to optimize fair and unbiased responses to concerns.
